Identify the Gospel (Grammar) - 10 points (total)

Place an "X" by the statements that describe John's Gospel. Leave all other statements blank. (Hint: there are 5)

- _____ It is a gospel of Jesus' power (stories of exorcisms, healing, and other miracles crammed on top of each other).
- _____ Rather than the Kingdom of God, this gospel focuses on the theme of eternal life.
- _____ This gospel uses the term "salvation" more than any other gospel.
- _____ This gospel's method in conveying the life of Christ is centered around 7 signs (miracles), 7 statements (ex. "I am the bread of life"), and 7 speeches (or sermons).
- _____ This gospel is clearly written from a Jewish perspective and concerns itself with the fulfillment of the Old Testament promises and prophecies.
- _____ This gospel focuses on the theme of light versus darkness.
- _____ This gospel demonstrates a strong eschatological emphasis (focus on the End Times).
- _____ This gospel provides no account of the birth or childhood of Jesus. Instead, it begins at Jesus' baptism.
- _____ This gospel is described as the most straightforward yet most complicated of the four gospels. One writer said, "It is shallow enough for a child to wade in, but deep enough for an elephant to swim in."
- _____ This gospel focuses on the idea of hospitality more than any other gospel (Jesus frequently is found sitting down to a meal and sharing table fellowship).
- _____ This gospel provides a universal outlook. Examples include the Magi from the East at Jesus' birth and the "Great Commission."
- _____ This gospel begins with a "cosmic" scope. ("In the beginning . . .")
- _____ This gospel is the shortest, most blunt, and to-the-point gospel.
- _____ This gospel is the only gospel to use the word "church."
- _____ This is a gospel of action and narrative (the writer uses the word "immediately" over 40 times).
